OPENING DOORS

TO MULTICULTURAL DISABILITY COMMUNITIES

Opening Doors to Multicultural Disability Communities is a federation of 10 multi-cultural community-based organizations serving people with developmental disabilities from communities of color. Each of our member organizations has come into existence as a place to go for information, referrals, support, and in some instances, services because many individuals or family members who do not speak English well or come from different cultures find the service system hard to understand and not always responsive to our needs. We are committed to righting this problem.
